An aerial photograph of a tropical coastline. In the foreground, a wide, sandy beach curves along the shore, with gentle waves washing onto the sand. Several white beach umbrellas and lounge chairs are arranged on the beach. Behind the beach, a dense line of green vegetation separates the shore from a row of large, multi-story villas. The villas are built on a slight rise, with some featuring multiple levels and balconies. The ocean extends to the horizon under a bright blue sky with scattered white clouds.
